ch year when the senior class ables to dedicate its yearbook, the s usually an easy one. This year was ception. When the preliminary votes tallied, the range was so broad that was not a single person with a s. The second vote yielded the same

s. However, when the third prowas brought forth for the book's ation, the result was unanimous.
ffield is fortunate to have an excep-faculty, and we have been touched any ways by each one of you.
efore, the Senior Class of 1985 es to dedicate their yearbook to the e Suffield Academy faculty. Thank for your teaching, friendship, and
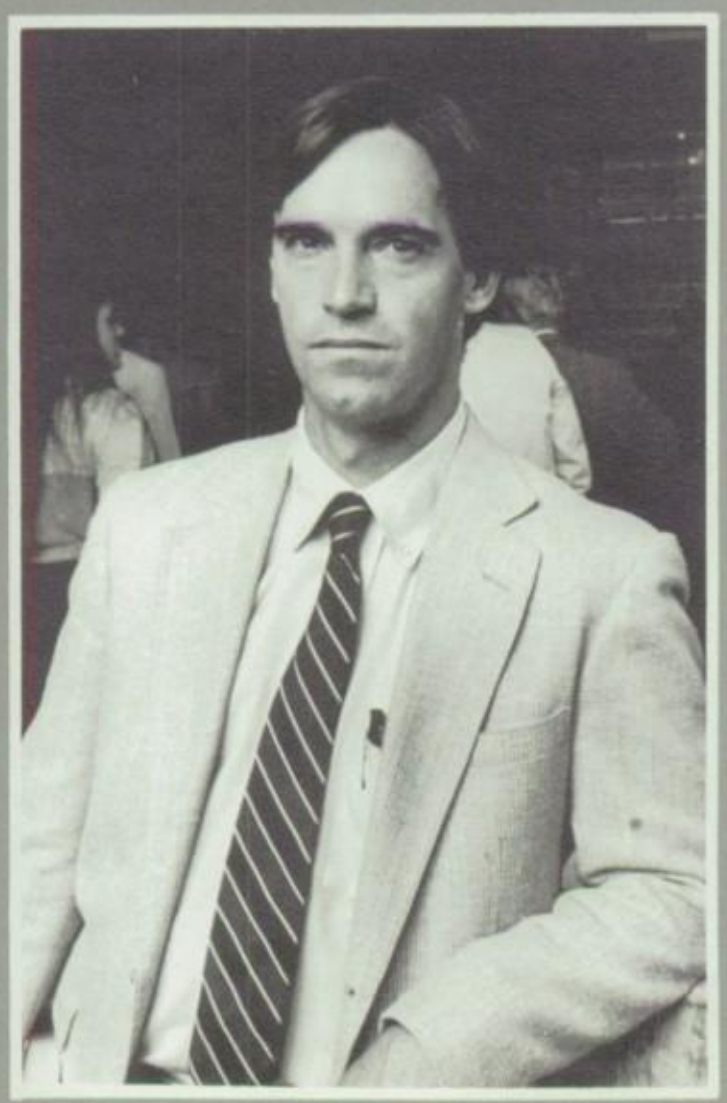
ort. We will never forget you.



APPRECIATION

The role of a Class Advisor is one that is demanding as well as challenging, and our advisor was someone who was able to meet these demands with concern and style. In appreciation of your four years of hard work and encouragement, the class of 1985 wants to thank you, Mr. Scott, for all that you have done for us.

Office of the Headmaster

June, 1985

To the Class of 1985:

You will be remembered as one of the finest classes we have known. Your leadership year, in particular, was a very strong one, and you leave with our admiration and affection.

In the years ahead, when you think about your education at Suffield, I hope you will recall good teaching, good times, and good friendships. But I also hope that you will remember the struggles and the hard times as well, especially when you really wrestled with the question of making good choices rather than easy choices, and grew in the process.

We shall certainly miss you. Please come back and see us whenever you can.

Sincerely,

Ken Lindfors

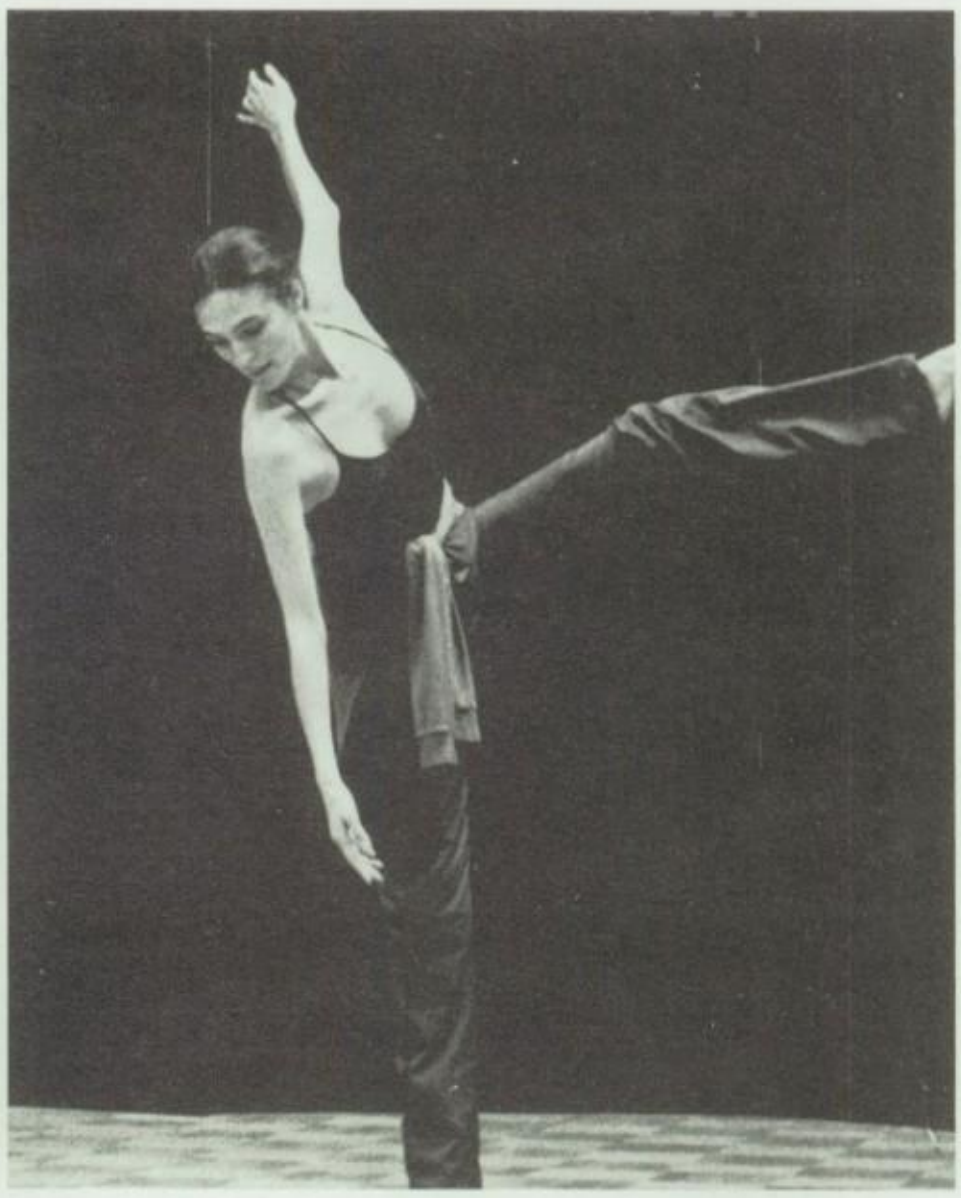
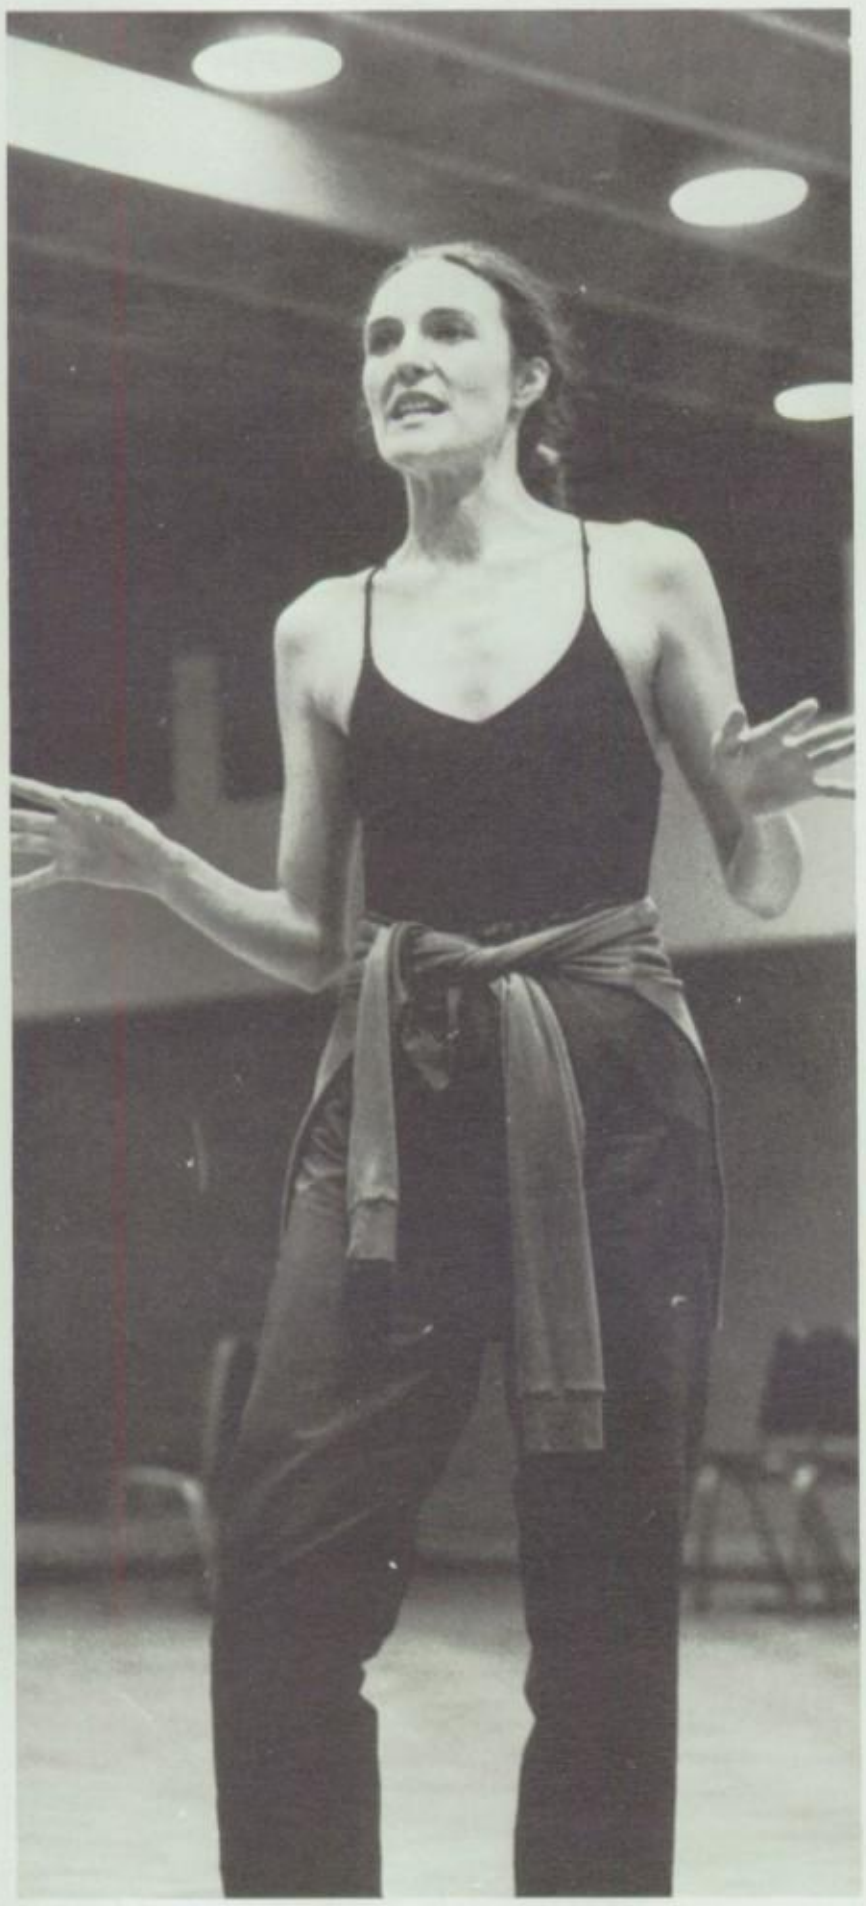
PARENTS' WEEKEND
OCTOBER 19-20

TANDY BEAL — ARTIST

In a week sponsored by the Reader's Digest Association and Affiliate Artists Inc., Tandy Beal came to the Academy to expand our knowledge about the world of dance. Ms. Beal, an acclaimed dancer and choreographer, spent the week as Artist-in-Residence giving "Informances," allowing classes to meet and talk with her about her career. Her style of dance was different, and, at times, funny and haunting, but always exciting to watch. Her week also included working with the Dance Club, and those who worked with her said that she was an intense artist. Ms. Beal's stay culminated in a fantastic performance on Parents' Weekend.



IN RESIDENCE



ASSEMBLIES

The fall term assembly program was full of surprises for all students, both new and old. Coming together for the first school assembly, we listened as Clinton Brooks explored the possibilities of extra-terrestrial life. In his presentation, he explained, among other things, that spacecraft can "communicate" with ET's through a set of various sized color-coded symbols. Mr. Brooks did point out, however, that the aliens have to be of a greater intelligence in order to understand them. The mood changed with the appearance of Bob Burky, who turned some of Suffield's students and faculty, including Mr. Samii and Mr. Currier, into clowns. Jim Bostain humorously spoke about the different ways in which people communicate, and Jerry Valley had the entire school hypnotized with his performance when he came to Suffield. He played mind tricks with the audience before selecting his guinea pigs, who had the chance to be their favorite stars, while others lost their belly buttons as well as their last names. In a bold move, the proctors were cast in a satire on the faculty. Although it was very amusing, through it they were able to show their appreciation and respect for these important people. Suffield was also fortunate to have Trinity College Professors Lestz and Kassow lecture on the issue of current U.S. and Soviet relations. Both were certain that the idea of a nuclear war was as horrifying to the Russians as to us. And finally, Peter Zimmer covered the topic of drug and alcohol abuse in a series that was rather successful. As a good start to the new school year, these weekly meetings brought Suffield students together for an opportunity to laugh and learn.

THE BOGUS BRIDE

Scatter-brained Flavia (A. Cisneros) to Lucrezia (Welpton): "Did I tell you about my husband?"

The Bogus Bride, performed in the manner of the commedia del'arte, was a fantastic production with the types of slapstick that one would expect in a circus show. From the make-up and costumes to the pratfalls, it was obvious that everyone worked their hardest to make the first Cue and Curtain play a success.

CHRISTMAS

With a chill in the air and the appearance of wreaths on the doors, the Christmas season arrived at Suffield. It gave friends the chance to celebrate a special time of the year with each other in many ways. The traditional candlelight service was attended by most of the community, and through the reading of scripture and the singing of carols, the spiritual importance of the holiday was remembered. However, the excellent Christmas dinner was the event most anticipated. Santa Claus arrived afterwards with gifts for the children and stayed to join in on the caroling in Cone Lounge following the meal. The warm atmosphere was a good way to begin the Christmas vacation and although there was a lack of snow on the ground, Suffield proved that it could find a way to capture the Christmas spirit.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

SUFFIELD A HAVEN FOR CAMBODIAN FAMILY OF FIVE

January 28th, a special family joined the Suffield com-ity. Their arrival was the culmination of many months of ning on the part of Mr. Mercer and the Chapel Commit-for this family was reaching the end of their journey from gee camps in Cambodia, Thailand, and the Philipines. . Heang Touch, her son Chun, daughter Chorn, and hews Huorth and You were met at Bradley Airport by lty and committee members. The meeting was a successful establishing an immediate sense of friendship and securi-r the family.

he Touch family is a special one, for in a way that few can understand, they are "survivors." At 35, Mrs. Touch, a her rice farmer, has managed as a single parent to keep children together as a family unit. Two of the children are hews whose parents are presumed to be deceased. They e with little more than the clothes they were wearing. They e tired, hungry, confused, and a bit frightened. Yet they kly made significant strides toward understanding the e and practices of their new country. This progress has e from a combination of the family's motivation and the mitment of faculty/student volunteers. The support for the nteer groups was amazing, for practically the entire stu-t body helped in some way toward the settlement of the chs. By joining the various clothing, housing, fund-raising, education committees, students were united for a single, tive cause. Suffield should be proud of its accomplishment.

ypical Saturday morning would find us dutifully filing down to Fuller Lounge or the Peraino, Wrestling Room to see the ıter term assemblies. Beginning this season's program were Suffield's favorite mimes, Stromberg and Cooper. Their perfor- ıce enthralled those who had never seen them before and still had enough surprises to make the old students laugh. Richard ius arrived with his rather large collection of North American birds, including an American eagle, one of the few in captivity. explained the role of birds throughout history, from medieval falconry to their importance to the American Indians, as well as rming us of their habits and means of survival. In a special evening assembly, Suffield was fortunate to have master magician Fellows mystify and delight a very spellbound audience. Highlights of his performance included mind-reading, Houdini- escapes and levitation (something that freshman Cindy Fontana will not soon forget!). One lecturer this term made the stu- t body sit up and listen intently. A controversial comedian and human rights activist, Dick Gregory delivered a speech on the sent state of affairs in our country, as well as on the U.S.'s influence on the world. His lecture opened many eyes, as Mr. gory stressed the importance of today's youth in the shaping of this world, reminding us that we can make a difference. The ter also produced diverse and enjoyable concerts. Mr. German and friends played a variety of traditional folk music from the ish Isles. The Voices of Faith Gospel Choir, in a combination of singing and piano accompaniment, gave a very moving sentation, and Ricardo Maurago had the Cone Lounge audience dancing to his lively and energetic music of Latin America. se opportunities to have a break in the routine made the winter term much more enjoyable.

Gwendolyn and Cecily compare notes on Earnest.

Every once in a while a director works on a show that seems to be somehow jinxed, and The Importance of Being Earnest has been that sort of a show for me. First I had to ask a person to leave the show and struggle to help a replacement catch up with the rest of the cast. Then I had constant problems getting the right tools and equipment to the stage crew so that they could create the set. Then I had to interrupt work for visiting performers. Then Aaron got mono and had to go home. I was ready to cancel. But the students involved wanted to do the show. I pointed out all the risks of trying to bring it back in ten days after a three week layoff, but they wanted it; so here we are. The whole point to this is that they were right. They had the energy, the courage, the faith to take the risk, and I think they've pulled it off.

VIP'S

For the first time in Suffield's history, several students had the opportunity to join a volunteer service program in lieu of a winter team sport. The VIP's (Volunteers In Practice) had an incredibly successful term working in an elderly receiving home and a health day-care center because of the dedication and determination of its members. From this experience, they learned about the hardships that accompany old age. The term ended on a happy note at a Mardi Gras celebration with their new friends.

Shakespeare and Company

The company in a scene from "As You Like It."

Alumni Steve Clark '83, Laura Ferraro '82, Margret Figeroa '82, Laura Jambazian '84, and Erik Meunier '84 discuss college.

Red, Hot and Blue WOWS Suffield with their songs.

ASSEMBLIES

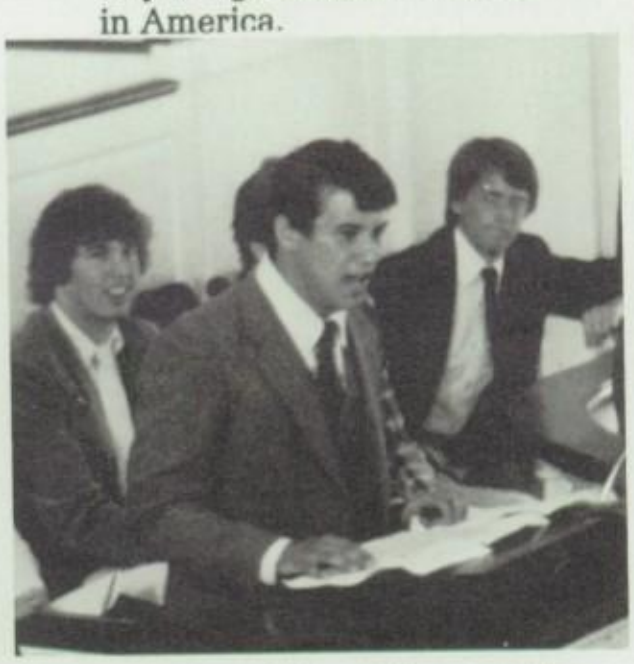
As the end of the year drew closer, activities preparing students to become seniors, juniors, and sophomores occupied many of the assembly periods. Nevertheless, the assemblies that were held were excellent. Shakespoeaere and Company came at the perfect time to perform scenes from a variety of his plays. Juniors and seniors eagerly watched as the characters whom they had been studying came to life in comedies and dramas such as Othello, As You Like It, and Macbeth. Next, a co-ed singing group from Yale called Red, Hot and Blue arrived in Fuller Lounge with jokes that were almost as good as their songs. Among their repertoire were tunes by George Gershwin, Cole Porter and other Broadway greats, as well as a few spirituals. At a special assembly required for Suffield's female population, Leah Jansky focused on the choices that confront women. Through dramatic literature, she examined different types of women who fell into the roles that society expected of them and as a result, lost their chance to be full human beings. Five Suffield alumni returned to answer the seniors' questions about college life and what lay ahead. And the last school assembly was devoted to the Kent Davis prize speaking competition. Nine competitors, Charles Burrows, David Bueker, Jon Chaplowe, Leroy Darby, Rose Ferraro, Tom Fontana, Jinnie Lee, Sonya Levy, and Lily Song delivered either a famous speech or an original one based on the oddities of life at Suffield. The fact that there were fewer assemblies this term did not result in wasted time, since it gave us the chance to take advantage of the warmer weather.

Leah Jansky

Jinnie Lee recites "My Last Duchess" by Robert Browning.

Lily Song discusses "free sex" in America.

Harmonizing with Red, Hot and Blue.



Jon Chaplowe brings "Casey at the Bat" to the Kent Davis Competition.

The cast sings "Fred."

en Aggravain prepares Fred for the sensitivity test.

The Ladies hope for someone to marry the Prince.

ONCE UPON A MATTRESS

Fred ponders a way to get Lady Larkin and Harry together again.

In every aspest, the cast and crew of Once Upon a Mattress presented an unmistakably professional preformance. The long hours of rehearsals for both actors and musicians, building sets by the stage crew and anticipation by all resulted in enthusiastic applause on the nights of May 16-18 when the musical was presented. The contributions of all persons involved made the production the event of the spring.

FOOTPRINTS

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand: one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me.

The Lord replied, "My son, My precious child, I love you and would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

Good-bye is not an ending
When you know that people care
For miles may come between you
But warm thoughts are always there . . .
Good-bye is not an ending
But a different start for you
A time for making brand new friends
And seeing dreams come true . . .
Good-bye is not an ending
For you'll find along life's way
Within your heart you'll always have

To my family: Thank you for the opportunity to come here and be around such wonderful people. Thank you for your support.

Pomeroy Animals, you guys (at least most of you) are awesome. Reeeaally!

Dan — ten years . . . No words can express my feelings towards you. You have been the single most influential part of my life. Thank God we live five minutes apart. I'll miss you.

Aaron-Beast — we've shared a lot together. Somehow we've made it. The few weeks you were gone were a few of the hardest weeks of my life. I don't know what I'll do without you around. Keep in touch.

Brice — Whenever I was down I looked to you. Somehow, no matter what was happening in your life, you always had a smile and time to cheer me up. You have been an inspiration to me — Thanx.

Sylvie — A great friend. I'm sorry we wasted so much time. We should be closer. I know sometimes I get out of hand. Thanks for putting up with me. Good luck — you won't need it.
Debbie — one of the few girls here with no hangups. Don't get any. You're one of the greatest.
Jinnie — Thanks for being a loyal friend for three years. There aren't many I can say that about.
Doug — I'm not from Australia, gullible much. Take it easy killer, Thanks for everything.
Special thanks to — Mr. Currier, Mr. Scott, Dick Gregory.
Mary — Let your heart rule sometimes — it's not that bad. Establish an equilibrium.

Mike — Teree-terae-teroe! Best three years of my life (certainly the rowdiest). You've taught me a lot and enlightened me to a new way of life. I only wish I knew the secret to the scent. All kidding aside, you are truly special, and will never be replaced in my heart.

People I leave a warm good-bye: Chris A., Andrea, Lynn, Ann, Tracy, Shelly, Easy Ed, Penry, Stymie, Tom H., Yodie, Atom, Molacca, Hor, Milo, Blake, Phil, Pat, Tony — really, Dave B. — sorry.

Studly — shove that dirt!

Today I went fishing. I thought I felt a nibble, and became excited. Once again, howver, I was toyed with, led on the bait, stripped from my line, leaving me with nothing. Deceived, I have left to find another sea, and another fish, for I will never fish again in this pond.

Todd — keep practicing, maybe some day you'll be up with "The Best Ones."

Peace, Love and Smiles make the world go around

Every road I walked
Every hill I climbed
Every slope I fell down
Every cloud I flew to
You were there — what a pair.

Now my task is smoothly done. I can fly or I can run. — J. Milton

The Bell, The Lumberjack, and The Chief

The noble secret of laughing at oneself is the greatest humor of all.

Money can't buy the love one finds at a Grateful Dead Show — my heart is with you.

With some you win
With some you lose
us two,
We couldn't choose.
Life goes on
So they say.
We will love again
Another day

It's a small world and I'm sure we will all meet again sometime until then keep up the good LOVIN'

4 LONG YEARS no tears

Only one year but what fun and memories — may all your happiness be never ending.

Long life to everyone.

THANKS TO ALL WHO I HAVE SHARED A SMILE WITH!

My favorite quote:
There is pleasure in the pathless woods,
there is a rapture on the lonely shore,
there is society where none intrudes,
by the deep sea, and music in its roar:
I love not man the less, but nature more.
From Childe Harold's Pilgrimage
By Lord Byron (1788-1824)

I have heard tell of a noble breed of stallions who, when they are overheated and run wild, instinctively bite open one of their veins to relieve themselves. I feel like that often. I would like to open the vein that would give me eternal freedom.

Black, for so many
Holds such a fear,
Yet for me holds so
Much comfort. it Allows one to be natural because the physical differences
Become so menial, so unimportant.
The sharp contrast with White turns many a head,
But the mixture of the two
Holds something too special
To care.
— Love Johanna

Charlie, my brother and blood. You mean the most to me. Together we can run the world. My love towards you is tremendous, though it may seem hard to understand.

My special thanks to: Mr. Lowe, Mr. Scott, Mr. Braughteghan, Mr. Pervear, Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Litner, and Mr. Rockwell.

Jack, Roommate for two years, we have had our highs and lows. You are a real good friend. Hess, Mac, Mannix, Hank, Sevilla, and Gordon — It's been real!, or has it? Dominique, Kristen, and Brendy — great people to have around. Burrows, Hoecker, Altman, and McGaves — additions to our Animal House at S.A. Leslie and Lanie — Good luck! In the pursuit of happiness. In the meantime just smile and pretend. It's not hard.

Tom — Best friends forever.

Mac. — let's do it like our fathers

Chester — Keep in touch.

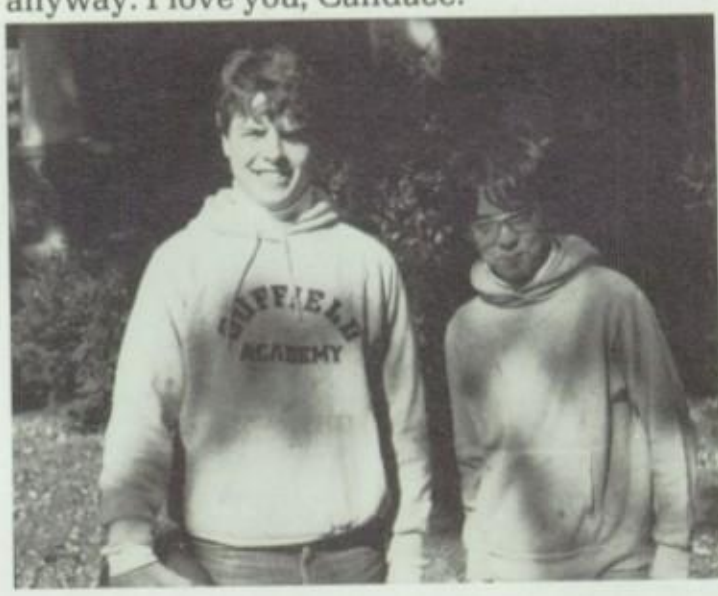
See what you Spencer Boys missed. Best guys though, Hank, Jim, Chester, Mike. Mac didn't. But we'll have an awesome time this spring and St. Bart's. Do it up fellas.

I know the girls of the Suffield Class of '85, Hey Lotty, Lotty Low, You can fill in the rest Sue, Tracy, Tish, Kerry, and Kerri, Beth, Bobbie, Sylvie, Jeanne, Dianne, Margot, Jackie, Johanna, Stacy, Cinamin, and Betsey. Cool two years and good luck in the future. Great gi FEB '85 Kerry Thanks!

Well Babe, Looks like you made my book anyway. I love you, Candace.

Thanks to everyone at the Academy. You helped me in so many ways. Mr. LaPlante, Mr. Litner, Mr. Samii, Mr. Uhlram, Mr. Gorman, Mr. Nye, Mr. Brautigam, Mr. Powell, Mr. DeSalvo, Mr. Rockwell, and Mr. Vianny.



What a roommate!
What a Squally
Prom '84!
What a killer!

Thanks to everyone on the home front, I needed it, especially you Jimbo, don't do too much of what I wouldn't do. Chris, Jon, Tony, Lorne, Liz, Carolyn, Diane, and John. A very special thank you, Mom and Dad. You put up with too much.

Charles McGaves, Awesome proctor! Fuller Boys are A #1. Dan, Al, Beefer, Ben, Chuck, Mike, Brad, Burman, and Murray, and the up and coming animals; Bill, Fred, Cobs, and Grandma. Keep 'em guessing.

The Light of the earth is fragmented by the dying world of the living. Think about it. Good luck Laney, Davey, Leslie, Kristen, Brinley, Dominique, and Barby — I'll miss you all, but I don't think I will miss this place!

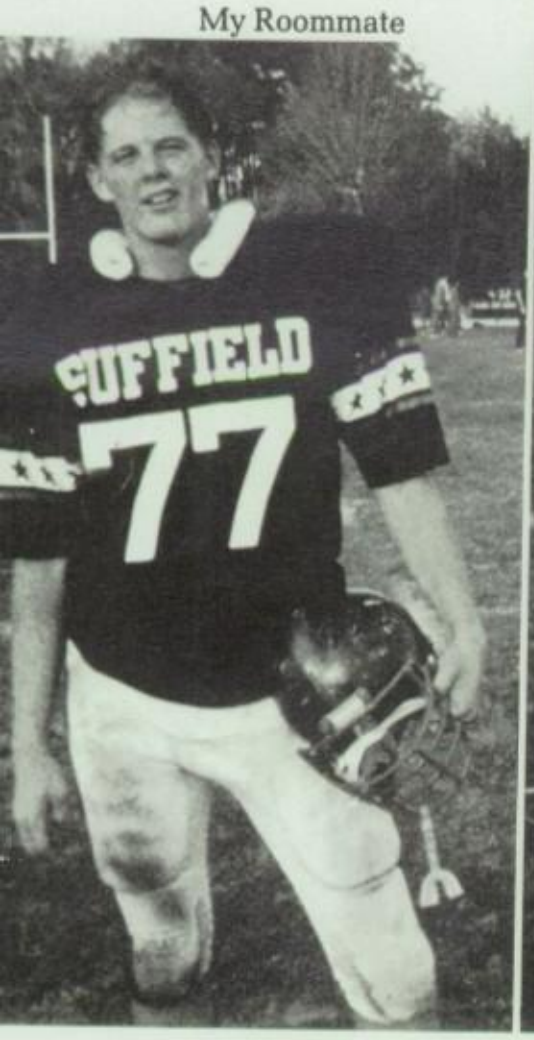
O'Yeah O'Keefe

My Roommate

Seniors — Congratulations — You made it out alive, Good Luck: Kevin, Al, Jck, Lisa, Michelle, Ben, Altman, Spritz, McGavs, Murray, Burm, and (Byelas)?

Howdy John-Jack



ney — You're very special to me and I can never express all of my feel-n words. Have a good high school career and don't get busted.

Whoop!

Good luck Chris, Fred, Grandma, Brinley, Kristen, Dominique, Phips, Scott M., Mr. Blaise, and everyone else. I hope you guys graduate, if not from S.A. from your local high school where there are no rules and no values. Mom and Dad — Thanx for all of your help and support. I will love you always.

Sisters No! That's my Mom! (Always Young) Thank-you for being so understanding of me.

Little Deb, I Love You!

Forever my support I love You, Dad.

WE ARE THE DEFINITION OF ROOMMATES . . . Cocktails anyone? Shallow Superficial? No, you're a real friend. Thank-you for sharing yourself with me. I Love You. (I'LL JUST MOUSSE MY HAIR!)

John Yalman — Don't fail math!

I will always have the memories. GOOD TIMES! I Love You.

What A twosome!!!

Polly and Julie, Best Friends last forever.
I Love You

Forever My best friend. I will always be here for you. Stay cool and don't break too many hearts.

Jed — You're Amazing!

Good-Luck Grandma!

M . H . — Thank-G-d for Bob's party. What would I have done if we weren't RMTS? You really listened.

You're going to make it big, Bud. The future is yours. Out of all the clueless, we're definitely the only real people. Nessie . . . come again, I.L.Y!!!

SPECIAL THANKS TO: Rocky, Mr. Gooch, and Mr. Sawyer, for really making me work my hardest.

J.H. — Break away and find new and real people. It's finally time for you to be you.

Mom, Dad, Nancy, Sue and Jane, Words can't express my love for you all. You gave encouragement, support and interest to create a truly independent person. I.L.Y. more and respect you more than you'll ever know.

Michi — Prom weekend, cocktails, the 4 rentless weekends, remember when you got sick near the church? Laxatives in the fridge. Mistaken about S.B.! Shallow and Superficial!

Good-luck Cinny!

Chris — Keep smiling only 1 more short yr. It might get tough, but the wknds belong to you. I know exactly how you're feeling. Call me at S.U. if you need to talk. Good Luck!

Thanks for letting me see the real D.S. One who was seen so rarely by others. West Hartford To Cape at 4 a.m. Bob's on wknds. Beach visits at 11. Boston on M.-Thursday . . . I'll never forget you.

Good-luck: Jed, A.R., M.H., C.B., J.F.S., J.F.S., Goethe, Sheri, J.M., ('84) J. KIM Sheri, keep dancing, . . . Marty B., . . . Kevin . . .

Best wishes to the graduates in their future endeavors.

"And so the 20th century philosopher Hess once said, "Never burn your bridges." As I leave you now I have passed a bridge that shall lead me to a new highway with many paths. When your turn comes I hope your lives shall be filled with happiness and contentment. To the Class of '85 I wish you luck with all your endeavors. Remember to laugh and smile for the world will follow your example."
